2002 was the first real harvest (a small amount was taken in 2001) of the Estate Merlot. The long growing season allowed the fruit to develop the berry and floral qualities that have made Merlot so popular.

The wine expresses that fruit as violets and blueberries. Hints of oak and licorice add to the complexity of the aromas. Full flavors lead to a soft and supple finish.

This wine is drinking especially nicely and is a great match to anything from a fine grilled steak to a rich pasta sauce. Extremely limited production makes this a very special wine.
